Subject: boil notice

I just called the department of health. There is a boil notice for houses on CR 2003 (? - how many)- SINCE LAST WEEK!. She said it is up to PWA to notify – how? Were these families notified? Who knows – I thought that was the purpose of our website to communicate with membership.

Any way two samples were taken but due to courier issues the samples arrived late.

Two samples were taken yesterday – results will be at 10 am tomorrow.

So has anyone notified this area that they are still on a boil notice?

I see nothing on the webpage notifying these individuals – or alerting the PWA members. What is the point of our website?

HOW DO WE KNOW PEOPLE WERE CONTACTED? You would think there would be more complaints – that is a long time for people boiling water without any updates?

This is just one example - and if someone had not reached out to Concerned Citizens nothing would have happened. Concerned Citizens alerted Thomas Adams and the ball started rolling. Davis knew and did nothing. Thomas was very lenient on Adams Like I asked last week, where is our support from PSC? This is just one example of how the ORDER by PSC to have an alert system and website to keep PWA owners notified is NOT BEING DONE.
