Public Service Commission establishes docket to consider changes to Arnold Line Water Association in Hattiesburg

Jackson, Miss.— Tuesday morning at its monthly meeting, the Mississippi Public Service Commission (Commission) established a docket to consider changes to current service rules and regulations of Arnold Line Water Association (Association).

In concurrence with the docket, the Commission issued a letter informing the Association of needed changes to the Association's service rules and regulations in order to comply with the Commission rules. If the Commission receives no response within seven days or changes are not agreed upon, a hearing will be set in which the Association will present its legal case.

The Commission regulates telecommunications, electric, gas, water and sewer utilities in Mississippi and has exclusive, original jurisdiction over these entities excluding ratemaking authority of rural water associations.
